THIRTY SEVENTE DAY.

Tuesday, June 15th. The Assembly convened at a little past the hour set and after prayer, roll call and reading of the minutes had been con-cluded the members listened to a report of the Judiciary committee, read by Representative Brown, viz.: The Judiciary committee, to whom was referred the bill to create an additional port of entry and departure of foreign vessels in the col-lection district of Kealakekua, Island of Hawaii, whereby Kailna is sought to be made an additional port of entry, respect fully report they have had the same under consideration and recommend that the bill be laid on the table for the reason that the port of Kealakekua is sufficient to do any and all business that the district may be blessed with in the next twenty years to come. Report received whom was referred an Act supplementary to article 26, chapter 9, of the Civil Code, relating to the prevention of smuggling, respectfully report that they have examined the said bill, and after due consideration recommend that the bill do Report adopted, and bill ordered following resolution:

"Whenevas: There are fresh reports current that the Government of the United States is endeavoring to negotiate a new only animated with the belief that they States is endeavoring to negotiate a new treaty with the Hawaiian Government, on treaty with the Hawaiian Government, on the basis of the cession of Pearl River Harbor to the former Government, and that it is being kept secret; therefore be it Resolved: That the Minister of Foreign Affairs state to this Assembly whether these records are true or not.

At 11:45 the Assembly adjourned until AFTERNOON.

Assembly reconvened at 1:45 and imriated for the purpose of erecting a shoolhouse at Alae, South Kona. Tabled consideration with the Appropriation

At 2:10 Representative Thurston moved the Order of the Day and, the consideration of the reports from the Judiciary Committee relative to the contested elec-that: the question was one of utmost im-portance, as it involved principles on outh as if he were discharging a solemn trust. The other day a man made the remark to him: "What is the use of the opposition members trying to prevent the Assembly from stultifying itself; you are in a minority; you are powerless to do anything; why not let the majority go on and blast the record of the dovernment?"

But he did not believe in that. That is not would be placed on and taken off voting lists was fully prescribed.

Representative Thurston, "Do you mean to say that after the names have been not say that after the names have been not on the lists are relative to statute." what he came here for. He came here to do the very best he could do for his constituents and for the best interests of the country, and I shall continue to do my sons names, not on the voting list, were presented to the Board of Inspectors of Election by John Richardson, and they, having the right and acting from a sense of propriety, did place those names on the list. They were then on the list in the manner which the law prescribes. Afterward, upon the day of election, without challenging these voters, without giving any reason ercept that they, the inspectors, had received a letter from the Attorney-General, they ruled these men out. That gave rise to question of law: If these names were placed on the register in the way authorized by law, can they be taken from that list without challenge; He claimed they could not. Secondly, the point of fact in question, is this: Whether any of these people who were rejected, were as a matter of fact, residents of Kaspahina and entitled to vote there? The majority report states they there is a special to the learner of the continued rapping, indulged in by the President, order could not be obtained.

The Attorney-General—"Yes."

Several more questions and answers passed between the Attorney-General on at 14:30, Representative Kaulukon took part in the verbal contest, ending his remarks, as usual, by moving the previous question.

Representative Dole took the floor, but while about to speak was called to order by one of the "great majority," on the ground that the previous question had been moved.

Representative Dole said that, the motion had not been seconded, with which statement the President agreed, but the "majority" members became unruly and not without challenge; indulged in by the President, order could not be obtained.

The Attorney-General—"Yes." palina and entitled to vote there? The ma-jority report states that there is no such jority report states that there is no such evidence; the minerity report states that there is. It was not necessary for those people to appear personally before the board of inspectors, the law does not require it, the inspectors had authority to place on the list the names of voters which had been left off. The speaker then read from page 223 of the Complied Laws, Section 7 of the Laws of 1874, relative to the authority conferred on the Inspectors to place names on the list of voters. Judicial power was granted to them as the Section of the law quoted says that, "they shall receive evidence," therefore the Inspectors are judges of United States the law is different, there the applicant has to appear in person. The lists of voters in this country are made up by the Tax Assessors from their books, and nobody sees them until a short time previous to the election. If the Inspectors find that there are other names to be added they put them on themselves. In this case the Inspectors on presentation of the tax receipts of these voters by their attorney, decided, in their judicial capacity, that these men had a right to vote. The Inspectors having once placed the names on the list, could not remove them neerly by authority of the Attorney-General's "say so."

True the decision of the Inspectors was

General's "say so."

True the decision of the Inspectors was not entirely binding but, it could only be set aside in a legal manner as specified in Section 800 of the Civil Code. The writ True the decision of the Inspectors was not entirely binding but, it could only be set aside in a legal manner as specified in Section 800 of the Civil Code. The written opinion of the Attorney-General in this matter is that challenging should have been done. And the Attorney-General does not say that an applicant should appear in person, but name might be placed on list on production of tax receipt. The speaker read the advertisement published by the Attorney-General last February, relative to the granting of franchise and the action necessary to place names on vot relative to the granting of franchise and to do any and all business that the district may be blessed with in the next twenty years to come. Report received and laid on table.

Representative Brown also presented from the same committee the following report: "The Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred an Act supplementary to article 26, chapter 9, of the Civil Code, relating to the prevention of smuggling."

The Following Goods:

greater case, involving the right of franchise, deny the right to appear by attor-ney? He considered that the law was in chise, deny the right to appear by attorney? He considered that the law was in favor of the minority report, the opinion of the Attorney General, also and, he hoped, the subject of the grades of streets and sidewalks, recommending the passage of the subject of the grades of streets and sidewalks, recommending the passage of the continuing, he drew the attention of the way through a bank, whereby the water forms of the way through a bank, whereby the water forms of the continuing and the continuity and the continuing and the continuing and the continuing and Representative Kalus offered the follows. Representative Kalus offered the following resolution: "Have been requested by the Minister of the Interior to state in writing the answer required to the resolution introduced by Kep. Baker. The information desired is this: 1, the date of Z. K. Meyer's appointment as clerk of the Honolulu Water Works. 2, the date on which Z. K. Meyers took the oath of allegiance and became a Hawaiian subject." Referred to the Minister of the Interior.

Representative Kaulukou presented the following resolution:

"Wheneas: There are fresh reports cur-

Affairs state to this Assembly whether these reports are true or not.'

In support of this resolution Rep. Kanlakou stated that he had heard that the Hawaiian Minister at Washington had written to a friend in this city, and had mentioned that certain Senators had spoken about the adaptability of Pearl River Harbor for a coaling station.

Representative Kaina said that he had not the slightest fear of any cession of territory, or any requirement for such being made by the United States. He considered that the resolution was only intended to give some one an opportunity to make a sneech. He moved that it be indefinitely to give some one an opportunity to make a speech. He moved that it be indefinitely postponed.

On motion the "great majority" carried the resolution and the Minister of Foreign Affairs in a lengthy speech on the subject said: "There was nothing whatever to apprehend with regard to the Government of the United States. There came from that Government continued assurances of friendly intention, and of a determination to continue friendly relations with this kingdom. Such was the assurance direct from her Secretary of State, that the Government desired no transmel to be imposed on this Kingdom. Whatever opinions there was no occasion for the anxiety that had been created in Europe by reports of now negotiations. There was no ground for apprehension, and the United States continued to be friendly."

Representative Name occasion for the anxiety than that been created in Europe by reports of now negotiations. There was no ground for apprehension, and the United States continued to be friendly."

Representative Name of $15,000 be appropriated for the purpose of translating into Harts and the sealing cattle and cant vote. The only there person to give testimony was Adam Kankau, the man whose seat is now being contested, and this in the face of evidence. "Tabled for future consideration.

At 11.45 the Assembly adjourned until

He hoped that the Assembly would not act on this in a partisan spirit, but that they would act on the matter impartially and judicillay. He did not speak on this. necitately thereon Rep. Nahinu offered a matter because he was opposed to Mr. esolution that, the sum of $500 be appro-
